

PARKHURST IS ON THE WARPATH

Someone Asked His Wife to Become a Mormon.

TAKES LETTER FOR A TEXT
PROPOSES TO DISFRANCHISE
TIVE SAINTS.

(Special to The Herald.)
Washington, Feb. 12.—Rev. Dr. Parkhurst has joined the crusade against Mormonism. In a recent sermon he read to his congregation a letter purported to have been written by a Mormon elder to Mrs. Parkhurst urging her to become a member of the congregation services being held by the Mormons in New York City. The purported letter read, in part, as follows: "We are going to turn New York out 1,000,000 strong for the Mormon church and God within one year. The fight is already on. God is on our side. We must and shall win. We need so much just such good women as you are, etc." Parkhurst used the letter as his text in a sermon in which he proposed an amendment to the federal constitution providing for the disfranchisement of the Mormons from exercising political rights.

Hitchcock of Nebraska.
Of the newspaper men in congress, Representative Hitchcock of the Second district of Nebraska has already in his short term established a reputation. Mr. Hitchcock, who is the owner of the Omaha World-Herald, who has been in congress by beating Dave Mercer, one of the strongest men in the house. He stepped into notice by offering the resolutions to look into the "horse and carriage graft" and by backing up the resolutions with rigorous, ready and effective arguments. Mr. Hitchcock has taken a more active part in the floor work of the house than scores of members who have been in congress for many years, and unlike most new members, he has made no bad breaks. Reports from Nebraska are to the effect that Mr. Hitchcock will be elected by his party as the candidate against Senator Ditcher next year.

Good Story By Williams.
When the Democrats of the house at the beginning of the session in November last selected John Sharp Williams of Mississippi as their leader on the floor, they selected a man who for perception and aptitude for cross-fire in debate, has no equal in his party. Mr. Williams finished his education at Heidelberg, Germany, and this finishing course abroad, was preceded by many years' hard study in the best universities of the south.

He is conceded to be one of the best story-tellers in congress, and often wins his point by the telling of an apt story. At one time he showed the members of the house that he was not only a good story-teller, but also a good fighter. He was talking with a story which fits in with the matter under discussion. Recently when the appropriation bill for the department of agriculture was under discussion in the committee, an item was reached providing for the salary of one of the numerous scientists supported by Secretary Wilson in his department. Williams was opposing the item on the ground that the matters which were developed by these scientific gentlemen were too abstracted and generally of a nature in which the general public was not interested, and that they seldom knew anything beyond the boundaries of their own profession. As illustrative these gentlemen he told of a very learned professor who was lost in the pursuit of a scientific book in which he was deeply interested one night at his residence. When he was requested by his wife to look outside and report as to the condition of the weather. He slowly got up, opened the door, and at another moment he was back into the room where his wife was sitting, and said: "Mary, it is as dark as pitch outside, and everything smells like cheese."

Service Pension Bill.
The service pension bill is growing daily of more importance as an element

MAKE PEACE WITH YOUR STOMACH

You Are Certain to Lose if You Attempt the Use of Force and Violence.

You cannot force your stomach to do work that it is unable and unwilling to do. It has been tried time and time again with always the same result. The stomach is a good and faithful servant; but when pushed beyond the limit of its strength, it rebels. Some stomachs will stand much more abuse than others, but every stomach has its limit; and when that limit is reached, it is a very dangerous and unwise proceeding to attempt to force it into doing further work. The sensible and reasonable course is to employ a substitute to carry on the work of digestion and give the stomach an opportunity to recuperate and regain its lost strength.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the only perfect substitute to take up and carry on the work of tired, worn-out stomachs. They are natural and easy in their work and cause no disturbance in the digestive organs. They contain all of the essential elements that make up the gastric juice and other digestive fluids and will digest any food that a strong, healthy stomach will, and do it in the same time and in the same way. They work independently of surrounding conditions and the fact that the stomach is weak or diseased does not influence them at all in their useful and effective work. They digest food just as well in a glass jar or bottle as they will in a stomach. You can see that for yourself by putting the contents of a jar with a square meal and some water to enable it to work.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, by thus relieving the stomach of its work, enable that organ to rest and recuperate and regain its health and strength. The process is perfectly natural and plain. Nature will heal the stomach just as she heals a wound or a broken limb if she is not interfered with and is permitted to do her work in her own way. All interference is prevented by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by druggists everywhere at 50 cents a box and if you are afflicted with dyspepsia, one box will make you feel 50 times better. You will forget you have a stomach and rejoice in the forgetfulness. No druggist would be so short-sighted as to try to get along without Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, for they are so popular and are so well known for the good they have done and the happiness they have caused that any druggist caught without them would lose the confidence of his customers and be regarded as below the standard. His business would suffer as a result and he would be obliged to go to other stores and buy their drugs there as well as their Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

In Republican politics, and is now the subject of considerable discussion among administrative senators and representatives. It is contended by some that the introduction of such a bill at this session and its passage would entail an enormous drain on the treasury without the usual preliminary measures being taken by those charged with keeping the government's finances balanced as to make the possibility of a deficit not so remote. It is further urged that it might be looked upon as a campaign move pure and simple, and if the bill were to remain unacted on in the interim between the session of congress which adjourns some time in June and that which begins in December next, it would have a bad effect politically also, the campaign taking place in the meanwhile.

The matter will probably be adjusted by being taken up in the Republican national convention by a plank in the platform favoring a service pension. This will be a pledge of the party to carry it into effect and obligate itself to do so. Conservative members of the Republican party now admit that a service pension is almost inevitable in the near future, and Republican leaders believe the opportunity should not be lost to place the credit for such action to the credit of their party.

One on Spooner.
One of Senator Spooner's constituents recently called at the senator's committee room at the Capitol to get a letter of introduction to the attorney general in order to secure permission to go through a federal penitentiary. The senator was not in and as the constituent was in a hurry he called upon Senator Doolittle, stating that Mr. Spooner was absent and that he would like to have Senator Doolittle write him the desired letter. "Certainly," said Senator Doolittle, "it will give me pleasure to assist any of Senator Spooner's friends to get into the penitentiary."

Speaker Cannon was a guest at a very elaborate social function at the residence of one of the members of the society leaders of the capital. When he entered the dressing room to lay aside his coat and hat he was met by five young men putting on white kid gloves. The speaker looked at them with discomfiture and said:

"My sons, boys, I thought gloves had gone out of style ten or twelve years ago."

Then he clapped his brawny hands together and exclaimed: "And as far as I am concerned, they have gone out of style for good." He attended to the matter, as he called it, barehanded.

New Furniture For Taft.
New furniture had to be made for Secretary Taft when he assumed his duties at the war department. Secretary Root, who is just 60 pounds and Taft 320. After the new secretary had taken the oath he walked into the private office and sat down in Mr. Root's chair. The chief clerk, who was new, and when Mr. Taft got up the chair stayed with him. He immediately ordered a new chair made under his size. When he tried Mr. Root's chair he could scarcely get a leg under it, and a bigger one had to be ordered. Secretary Taft does not look his weight. He is tall and well proportioned and very active. He finds the chairs in the war department building too slow for him, and walks, or rather, skips, up and down steps, much to the dismay of the elevator operator.

Wary Senator Allison.
The wariest man in public life in the national capital is Senator Allison of Iowa. He is extremely careful never to commit himself absolutely on any question. A few days ago in the senate the proposed measure for appropriating a lump sum annually for keeping the sidewalks and streets free from snow and ice was being discussed.

"Now has been falling on the streets and sidewalks of Washington for many years past," observed Mr. Allison. "And will for many years to come," interposed Senator Spooner.

"As to that," rejoined Senator Allison, "I will not prophesy."

At a recent Gridiron club dinner Senator Allison's proverbial habit was illustrated by a conversation between two of the Gridiron club members.

"What would you do if sent by your paper to get a direct statement from Senator Allison?" asked the first.

"Resign my job," said the second. Senator Allison who was present as a guest laughed at the humor of the dialogue as any of the other guests.

ADMITTS HE GOT MONEY
Senator Burton Says He Took it as an Attorney—Demurs to Indictment.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 12.—Argument on the demurrer of United States Senator J. R. Burton of Kansas to the indictment charging him with using his influence to prevent the issuance of a postoffice fraud order against the Rialto Grain & Securities company and receiving for such services $2,500, was begun before Judge Burton in the United States district court today. Senator Burton's contention is that the extent of the United States' interest in the matter was the issuance of an order which would serve to stop the transmission of mail to and from the company, and that no question of governmental interest or policy was involved. He contended, through his attorney, Judge Chester Krum, that no law of the United States was violated by him, and that the United States has no legitimate interest in the efforts of the Rialto Grain & Securities company to prevent the issuance of a fraud order against it.

Senator Burton was in court. In his demurrer he admits that he accepted the money from the company, but says he did so merely as an attorney, and that he did not agree to use his influence as a senator in preventing the issuance of a fraud order.

PITTSBURG BANK IS OUT OF BUSINESS

Pittsburg, Pa., Feb. 12.—The State Bank of Pittsburg, capitalized at $50,000, was closed today by order of the state banking department. The state bank examiner is temporarily in charge.

Washington, Feb. 12.—The bank was closed by resolution of the board of directors. The bank had been appointed receiver. The bank was organized in 1901.

New York, Feb. 12.—According to a recent statement the Bank of Pittsburg owed depositors $450,000.

BIG FIRE AT TOPEKA.
Topeka, Kan., Feb. 12.—Fire today destroyed the Parkhurst-Davis mercantile company's building and stock, the Sells building adjoining, occupied by the McCormick Harvester company and W. I. Sykes as a storage room for mattresses. Total loss is estimated at $400,000. During the progress of the fire several thousand cartridges stored on the second floor of the Parkhurst-Davis building exploded, and a half a dozen spectators were hurt slightly by flying shells. The first started from the expressmen of chemicals in the mercantile company's building.

MICHAEL DAVITT ARRIVES.
New York, Feb. 12.—Among the passengers who arrived here today on the steamer Celtic from Liverpool and Queenstown were Michael Davitt and family, who are going to Colorado.

HAY ASKED TO BE MORE EXPLICIT

Powers Do Not Understand
Full Purport of His Note.

SEEM WILLING TO AGREE
UNITED STATES NOT TO BE DRAGGED INTO WAR.

Washington, Feb. 12.—The state department today issued this statement:

"After some preliminary exchange of views between this government and the governments of other powers interested in the Chinese matter, the department, on the 10th of February, sent the following instructions to the American representatives in St. Petersburg, Tokio and Peking:

"You will express to the minister for foreign affairs the earnest desire of the government of the United States that in the course of the military operations which have begun between Russia and Japan, the neutrality of China and in all practicable ways her administrative entity shall be respected by both parties, and that the area of hostilities shall be localized and minimized as much as possible so that undue excitement and disturbance of the Chinese people may be prevented and the least possible loss to the commerce and intercourse of the world will be occasioned."

(Signed) "JOHN HAY."

Action Requested.

At the same time this government informed all the powers signatory of the protocol at Peking of its action, and requested similar action on their part."

No answers to the above note in addition to those received up to yesterday have been received at the state department. There is a hint that Austria will seek to avoid any participation in the proposed representation to the belligerents on the ground that she has small concern in the matter, but no formal answer has been had from her. England wants a more definite statement of the purpose and scope of the note. Secretary Hay is disinclined to yield to this wish. He thinks that it would be inadvisable to get the powers together if an attempt was made to very exactly define the purpose of concurrent action. As to Manchuria, the question is left open purposely as to whether or not Chinese administration is or is not in force in that war-torn territory. That is why the term "administrative entity" was used in Secretary Hay's note. It is a question of fact, to be determined later on, whether or not China does possess "administrative entity" in Manchuria. This suspicion, engendered by the issue of the note, is expected to be the authorities here. It is declared that the government has been animated by the most simple and direct purpose, and has tried to express that fact in its note.

Danger in China.

There is grave danger of the fight from Peking of the Chinese court if it is not speedily proved that there is no danger of an invasion of China by one or the other of the belligerents. The state department has been warned by China itself that the result of this fight would lead to a general uprising against foreigners that might result in massacres. And the end would be perhaps the disruption of China. In this event it is believed here that the neutral powers would make off with the lion's share, the belligerents being much occupied to prevent them. This conviction on the part of officials here causes them to freely express the opinion that Russia will be guilty of a grave mistake if she rejects Secretary Hay's proposals. But if she does so, it is said that there will be no attempt made on our part to secure, through force of arms, what she has stated in the note. In other words, the United States is not to be dragged into hostilities in the far east.

ASK FOR EXPLANATION.

Powers Suggest That Secretary Hay's
Note Be Simplified.

Paris, Feb. 12.—The semi-official Temps says the cabinets of London, Paris and Berlin have received Secretary Hay's note. In the response which the three powers will make to the United States it will be suggested that the text of the American document be clarified and simplified. The three powers agree in giving the note a construction favorable to China's position, but they all insist that this neutrality be recognized and respected throughout the period of hostilities, but owing to the special conditions existing in Manchuria, which is the present theatre of actual warfare, this declaration of Chinese neutrality, which would prevent the United States from interfering in Manchuria's rights or stipulations in treaties. It is believed that the United States will accept this limitation of the interpretation which, it is said, is acceptable to Russia and Japan.

HOPES OF JAPAN.

United States and England to Be Dragged Into the War.

Chicago, Feb. 12.—"It is extremely probable that the United States and each of the great powers will do actual fighting before this war is over. The United States has taken a strong and courageous position."

Dr. Toyokichi Yonaga, formerly a secretary in the foreign department of the government, made the above declaration today. Dr. Yonaga has just completed a series of lectures in Chicago under the auspices of the University of Chicago. Dr. Yonaga said:

"All along I have been saying that the United States and England should join with Japan in settling this far eastern question in the interests of modern progressive civilization. The United States has done just what Japan wanted. President Roosevelt and Secretary Hay, by proposing to limit the question, have taken a very wrong stand. The only way to prevent a general war in which all the nations would be fighting would be to carry out the proposal which has been made by the United States."

"Who can tell now whether it would be accepted by Russia or not?"

"If it is not the interests of the United States so great and the stand has been strong that it would not do to say the United States is yet likely to be called to arms in the Orient."

Time to Consider.

London, Feb. 12.—The reports regarding British delay in answering Mr. Hay's note on the subject of China have created surprise here. It is pointed out that the note was only presented a few days ago and that the British government also has been committed to what is regarded as tantamount to an answer. This, it is understood here, expresses complete agreement on broad lines with Secretary Hay's proposition.

Neither Side Opposes.

Berlin, Feb. 12.—The German government has been informed that neither Russia nor Japan opposes in principle Secretary Hay's proposal in regard to China.

During these eight years before consulting Drs. Shores, I suffered intensely. Night after night I coughed and gagged—I could not sleep for coughing. What "Weakness" Is and How We Cure It.
So-called "Weakness" in men is merely a symptom of chronic inflammation in the prostate gland, brought on by early dissipation or by the improper treatment of some curable disease. Our treatment is a local one entirely. It is original and scientific, and has been proven absolutely effective by thousands of tests. We are convinced that by no other method can full and permanent restoration of strength and vigor be accomplished.
